FINDING OF FACTS

Plaintiff is a corporation repairing and operating river barges on the Ohio River. It owns or controls 2 tracts near Sheridan, in Lawrence County and on the River. These tracts are not contiguous. Between these tracts lies a 4.6 acre tract of land fronting the River. This is the tract in question. It was owned by Dorothy Creech and later controlled by Defendant James C. McLendon, as Executor of the Creech Estate. This tract has no frontage on the highway and originally was part of a house and land which did front on the road. It was separated from the other property by the N & S Railroad. Apparently there is no easement over the tracks, although physically it might be possible to cross the same. It had not been used for any purpose for many years. Its lack of access severely limited its marketability.

However, Plaintiff desired the tract which would give it a longer strip on the River for its barge operations. While this tract was referred to as a 6 acre tract, or a 5 plus acre tract, the description described it as 4.62 acres, more or less. However, all parties were well aware of the tract's boundaries and location and Defendant's contention that the contract was

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

There was a valid oral agreement to sell the real estate and both parties were willing to perform. The entire transaction was less than 6 months and was memorialized by the written memorandum signed by the Defendant. Whether the Plaintiff signed or not is immaterial. Defendant was the one to be bound and he signed the agreement. This Court agrees with the Referee's report, i.e., the Statute of Frauds does not apply. Defendant agreed to remove the minor cloud from the title or else the sale would have been consummated on October 19, 1989. This removal did not alter the contract to sell.

This Defendant had no right to sell this real estate to his mother, whom he represented and at a suspicious price of $200.00 over the Plaintiff's price, without notice and without counsel. The conclusion is inescapeable that the Defendant, who was skilled in real estate transactions, thought that through his mother he could control the real estate and make a greater profit for himself. His mother had knowledge of the transaction but was certainly no bona fide purchaser for value.

Specific performance is the proper remedy. The deed to the Defendant's mother is ordered set aside and the Defendant is ordered to convey the real estate to the Plaintiff upon the payment of the agreed price.

An entry may be prepared accordingly.

void for lack of a certain description is not well founded.

In the summer and fall of 1989, Plaintiff negotiated with the Defendant Executor to purchase this tract. Defendant had authority to sell under the Will without Probate Court authority. The parties reached an agreement in August of 1989; the price was $39,600.00, a more than fair price considering the access and limited use of the property. The sale was to close October 18, 1989 at the office of the Attorney for the Defendant. Plaintiff appeared with a check for $39,600.00. The Defendant had a deed to deliver. It was discovered at this closing that there was an old defunct coal lease which constituted a minor cloud on the title. It was agreed that the closing be continued for a short period to give Seller's Attorney time to remove this cloud. It was agreed that an escrow was not necessary.

The proceedings to remove were commenced. During this time period, Plaintiff decided to have the Defendant sign a written memorandum of the oral agreement. This was given to the Defendant, who signed the same and returned it to Plaintiff. Apparently, Plaintiff held the document but did not sign the same.

While the action was pending, the Defendant "sold" the property to his mother for $39,800.00 in a rather secretive fashion and without notice to anyone. When Plaintiff called in January, 1990 to inquire if the sale was ready to close, it was informed it had already been sold. Plaintiff then filed this action for Specific Performance.
