the board in the absence of formal vacation proceedings,[36] or in the absence of a successful action initiated by an abutting owner to acquire title to a road abandoned or adversely possessed.[37]

Upon petition for vacation of such road, highway, street, or alley filed with the board of county commissioners by any abutting landowner, if the board finds that the public road, highway, street, or alley has been abandoned and not used for the period of 21 years as alleged in the petition, the board may, by resolution, order the road, highway, street or alley vacated and it must pass common fee, to the abutting landowners thereof subject to the preservation of any existing right of way in, over, or under such roadway by any public utility or rural electric co-operative service facilities[38] and subject to the preservation of a right of way for public nonmotorized vehicular recreational use.[39]

The Director of Transportation is not impliedly authorized to close or vacate a township road incident to construction of a limited access highway.[40]

39. RC § 5553.042, referring to RC § 5553.044, which provides that any proceeding on a petition or resolution to vacate a road which begins on a public road and ends on a public road, the board of county commissioners may determine the suitability of the road for public nonmotorized vehicular recreational use. Such uses include, but are not limited to, hiking, bicycling, horseback riding, and ski touring. They do not include use by motorcycles, snowmobiles, all-purpose vehicles, or any other form of motorized vehicle. If the board finds that such uses will not unreasonably interfere with current land uses along the road, it may vacate the road subject to the preservation and the public right of way at least 30 feet wide within such roadway for such uses.

quires a perpetual easement over lands on which real estate taxes are owing, for the purpose of a highway, no liability attaches to the state, and in a condemnation action under RC Ch 5519, in which the state seeks to acquire such an easement, and real estate taxes are owed on the property, the county treasurer may apply to be made a party in the proceedings in order that moneys in the award for the property may be applied to the accrued taxes.[48]

In regard to municipal streets, the rule in Ohio is that the fee title of the streets is in the city or village in trust for street purposes.[49] Moreover, the Revised Code provides specifically that the recording of a plat of lands within a municipality operates to vest in the municipality the fee of the parcel of land designated or intended for streets, alleys, ways, commons, or other public uses, to be held in the corporate name in trust to and for the uses and purposes set forth in the instrument.[50] It is therefore settled law in Ohio that a municipality does not own an absolute fee simple in the street; rather, it owns only a determinable or qualified fee, and a municipal corporation holds its title to the real estate in the street in trust for street uses, and street uses only, so that it may perform its statutory duty of keeping the streets open, in repair, and free from nuisance.[51]

RC § 711.06 provides for the platting of subdivisions.

The title to a street in a village vests in the county without any formal acceptance when duly dedicated under a statute, and such title by operation of law vests in the village for legislative incorporation. Harbor Land Co. v Fairport (App) 7 O Ops 405, 23 OL Abs 44, 49 NE2d 194, motion overr.

street or alley by the legislative authority of a municipal corporation, either upon the petition of an interested property owner in the immediate vicinity[41] or upon its own initiative,[42] if there is good cause for such vacation or narrowing and it will not be detrimental to the general interest.[43] It is within the province of city council to determine when a street shall be vacated and in the absence of fraud its motives are not material and its discretion will not be reviewed by the court.[44] Furthermore, since the act of vacating a street is a legislative act, as with other legislative acts, it will be presumed, in the absence of a clear showing to the contrary, that the General Assembly acted in good faith to further a valid public purpose.[45]

41. RC § 723.04.

Where a municipality has land within its territorial limits granted to it for streets and alleys for the use of the public, it may divest itself of title of the whole or part by vacating the whole or part as provided by RC §§ 723.04 et seq., by utterly abandoning the same, or by adverse possession. Fondriest v Dennison, 8 O Misc 75, 37 O Ops 2d 97, 219 NE2d 322.

Op Atty Gen: Where, pursuant to RC § 723.04, a petition is made to the legislative authority of a municipal corporation for the vacation of a street or alley, the petition must contain a plat showing the public way to be vacated, and, upon vacation, the legislative authority should record said plat in the office of the county recorder pursuant to RC § 711.39 and the fee for such recording as prescribed by RC § 317.32 must be paid by said legislative authority. [1961] Op Atty Gen p 567.

42. RC § 723.05.

43. RC §§ 723.04, 723.05.

Under the statutes of Ohio, the council of a village or a city is authorized to vacate a street or a portion thereof whenever, in the exercise of its sound discretion, such action will not be detrimental to the public interest. Zetzer v Lundgard, 95 O App 51, 52 O Ops 407, 117 NE2d 445, app dismd for want of debat q 159 OS 597, 50 O Ops 473, 112 NE2d 657.

The taking of a portion of a street for the purpose of extending the lawn of hospital grounds is not of itself a sufficient reason to warrant the vacation of such portion of the street. Dreidame v Cincinnati, 25 OCC NS 607, 45 OCC 311, m c o 14 OLR 209.

Where a street or alley or a portion thereof is sought to be vacated, it is immaterial that the street or alley or portion thereof sought to be vacated is not extensively used. Pennsylvania R. Co. v Girard (CA6 Ohio) 210 F2d 437, 54 O Ops 243.

44. Smith v Wintersville (App) 26 O Ops 2d 40, 90 OL Abs 47, 187 NE2d 511, holding that a written agreement between the village counsel and certain owners of abutting property requiring counsel to initiate an ordinance vacating a street was evidence of one of counsel's motives in passing the ordinance, but was not evidence of fraud or constructive fraud.

45. Eastland Woods v Tallmadge, 2

Notice of the intention of the legislative authority to vacate or narrow any street, alley, or part thereof, is required to be given in all cases, except where there is filed with the legislative authority the written consent of the abutting property owners.[46] The manner of giving such notice is prescribed in the Revised Code, and it is further provided, in this connection, that action must be taken in the matter within a specified time after the completion of the notice.[47] It is held that the requirement as to the giving of such notice is mandatory and is to be strictly construed; and while an interested property owner may protest the vacation,[48] the appearance of a protesting property owner before the municipal legislative authority does not constitute a waiver or dispense with the necessity for such notice.[49]

Municipal corporations are also empowered to vacate or aban-

46. RC § 723.06.

Notice of the intention of the council to vacate an alley is not necessary, under RC § 723.06, to a property owner not abutting upon the part to be vacated. Bulen v Moody, 77 O App 61, 32 O Ops 325, 44 OL Abs 449, 63 NE2d 916.

47. RC § 723.07.

Where the vacation of a street by a charter city affects only two abutting property owners, service of notice of the resolution proposing the vacation on one such owner personally and on the other owner by leaving a copy at his usual place of residence, is in compliance with the city charter requirement that service of notice of a resolution proposing the vacation or narrowing of a street be made on all abutting owners affected thereby "in the manner that service of summons is required to be made in civil actions and by publication as to all persons who cannot be personally served." Dayton v Woodgeard, 116 O App 248, 22 O Ops 2d 78, 187 NE2d 921.

48. The owners of a subdivision lying outside the limits of a municipality, on the plat of which subdivision a street has been laid out to conform to, and as an extension of, a street of the municipality, in compliance with the requirements of the municipal planning commission, as a condition of its approval of such plat, are entitled to oppose a proceeding for the vacation of such street within the municipality, or to challenge the validity of an ordinance providing for such vacation. The mere recording of a plat of a subdivision, on which is laid out an extension of a street proposed to be vacated, does not take away the proprietary interest of the dedicators in such extension, so far as concerns their right to object to such proposed vacation, so long as such extension is unopened and unimproved. don "limited access highways" or "freeways" in the same manner in which such municipal corporations may vacate or abandon a street or public highway.[50]

Generally, the procedure for the vacation of a street, to be effective, must be in substantial compliance with the provisions of the Code Revised for such procedure.[51] In this connection, it should be noted that a distinction is usually made between irregularities in procedure which are not substantial and those which are jurisdictional, the view being taken that only such irregularities as are jurisdictional in their nature will render void the proceedings under a statute authorizing the vacation of a street or highway, or will render the proceedings subject to collateral attack.[52]

Upon vacation of an alley by a city, abutting lot owners, as to that portion of the alley abutting their properties, are vested with a fee simple interest in one-half of the width of the strip of land which formerly comprised the alley, irrespective of the fact that the original owner and dedicator of the land was not the predecessor in title to all such abutting lot owners; subject, however to those rights which other owners may have in the alley as a necessary means of access to their properties.[53] The above principle applies even though the abutting lot owners no longer need

The laying of railroad tracks upon a strip of land is not inconsistent with the use thereof for street purposes, and the granting of permission by a municipality for the laying of such tracks upon a strip of land held by it for street purposes does not necessarily operate as an abandonment thereof by the municipality for such street uses. A private easement in a vacated street is continued in favor of an abutting landowner only when the injury to the landowner is different both in degree and kind from that to the general public.[55]

§ 241. —By court order

The Revised Code authorizes a proceeding in the Court of Common Pleas, initiated upon the petition filed by any person owning a lot in the immediate vicinity, for the vacation of a street or alley,[56] upon notice and hearing,[57] including the hearing of adverse claims for damages;[58] and this remedy is in addition to the method of vacation by petition or upon the initiative of the legislative authority of a municipality.[59] Upon the hearing, and upon being satisfied that it will conduce to the general interests of the municipal corporation, the Court of Common Pleas may declare the street or alley vacated.[60] The jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas in such instances is a special one,[61] and its

56. RC § 723.09.

RC § 723.09 applies to streets in cities as well as to streets in villages and is not in conflict with or impliedly repealed by the provisions of RC § 713.02, nor superseded by similar provisions in a municipal charter, pertaining to the vacation of streets, which makes no provision for the protection of the interests of abutting owners. 58. RC § 723.11.

This provision of the Code is not in violation of due process, in the vacation of a street in a municipality, since ample remedy for damages sustained has been provided. Cincinnati v Wess, 127 OS 99, 186 NE 855.

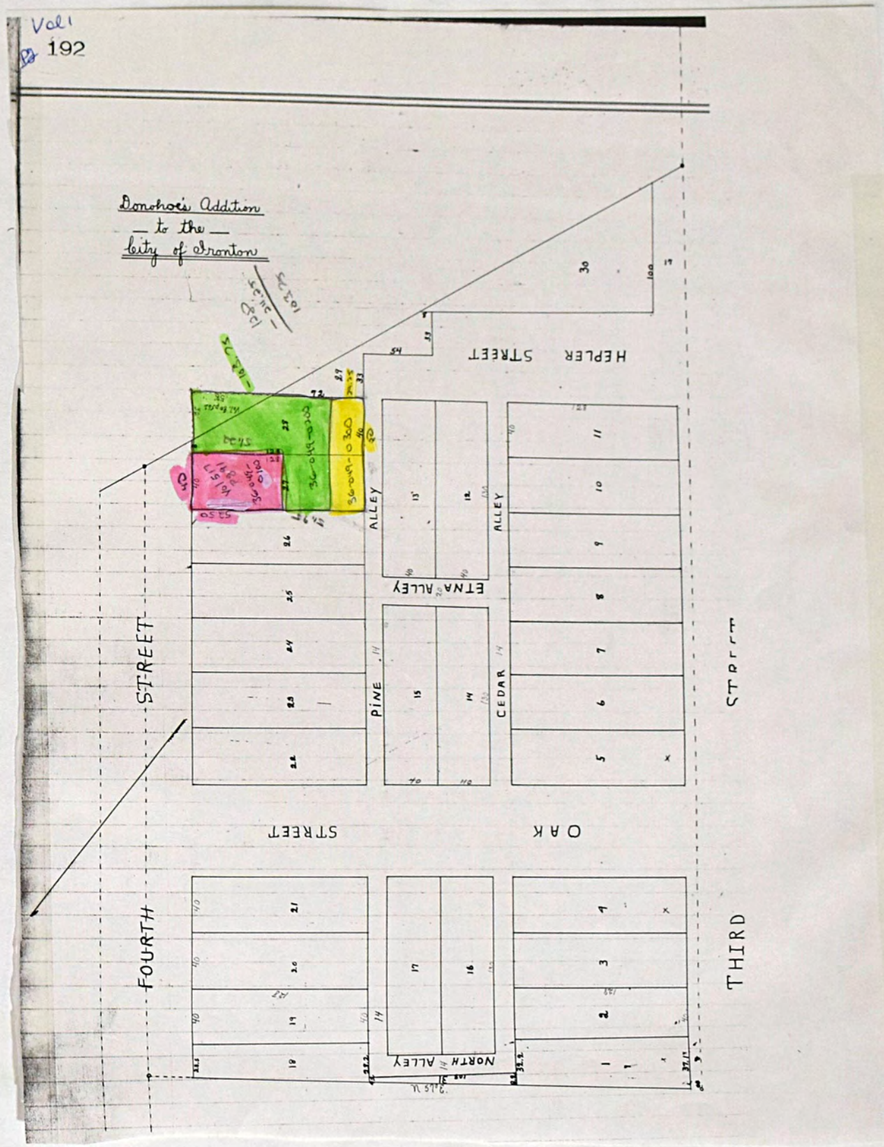

59. RC § 723.09.

60. RC § 723.09.

To warrant an order of vacation, under the provisions of this statute, the evidence produced must be sufficient to satisfy the court that such vacation would conduce to the general interests of the municipality, and a petition may properly be denied upon evidence merely that the street in question is not required for present needs of travel. Re Michigan Street, 12 OCC NS 414, 31 OCC 426.

61. A proceeding for the vacation of a street, under the provisions of RC §§ 723.09 et seq., is a special proceeding, as distinguished from a civil action. Re Hartford Street, 11 OCC NS 580, 31 OCC 123.
